SUITE 201

February 28, 1979

The Judicial Inquiry Commission has considered your request for an opinion in which you ask whether it would be a violation of any Canon of Judicial Ethics for a retired circuit judge serving on inactive status to engage in certain described remunerative activities. These activities include general sales, real estate sales, banking, finance and law clerking.

It is the opinion of this Commission that a retired circuit judge serving on inactive status would not violate any Canon of Judicial Ethics by engaging in any of these activities.
